

WEALTHY CHICAGO PACKER KILLED

GARNER PLANS TO DEFY PRESIDENT

WILL PUSH PROGRAM OF RELIEF DESPITE HOOVER'S CHARGES

Calls Public Works Bill "Pork Barrel" Legislation

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Speaker Garner was determined today to push his $2,147,000,000 unemployment relief program through the house despite President Hoover's vehement denunciation of it as "the most gigantic pork barrel ever proposed by the American congress."

The dispute between Mr. Hoover and Garner centered around the billion-dollar provision for public works, including more than 2,000 post offices and other federal buildings throughout the country. These would be financed by a bond issue. In one of the most outspoken statements of his administration, the President accused Garner of enumerating the countless local projects in his bill in an effort to win the support of these communities at the expense of the national welfare. He said many of the post office projects had been discredited by congress as extravagant. He declared the program would unbalance the budget and would give work to only 10,000 men at the most.

"If the President had suggested my bill," Garner retorted, "it wouldn't have been a pork barrel. It would have been statesmanlike. I don't see how it is possible for my bill to unbalance the budget when the bill carries with it a gasoline tax raising $42,000,000 a year, more than sufficient to take care of interest on the sinking fund requirements of bonds issued for construction."

The speaker said fifty Republicans had come to him and promised to support the bill, which was approved by the Democratic majority of the house. As soon as the ways and means committee completes hearings on the measure next week, the house will lay all other work aside and take it up. Mr. Hoover approved the Garner bill provision increasing the borrowing power by $1,000,000,000 to finance "self-liquidating" projects. But the public works bond issue plan he denounced as an "unexampled raid on the public treasury."

"The urgent question today is the prompt balancing of the budget," the President said. "When that is accomplished, I propose to support adequate measures for relief of distress and unemployment."

Mr. Hoover said the proposed expenditures on public works would make "balancing of the budget hopeless."

"The country also understands," he continued, "that an unbalanced budget means the loss of confidence of our people and of other nations in the credit and stability of the government and that consequences are national demoralization and the loss of ten times as many jobs as would be created by this program even if it could be physically put into action. Our nation was not founded on the pork barrel and it has not become great by political log-rolling. I hope that those many members of congress of both parties who I know will oppose this bill will receive the definite support of the people of their districts in resisting it."

Tales Of Bravery And Horror Told By Survivors Of Ship Collision

BOSTON, May 28.—Stories of skill and courage, including that of one man driven mad by his fight for life in the flooded hull of the steamer Grecian, were brought here today by survivors aboard the City of Chattanooga which sank the freighter Friday.

Vernon Parker, one of the twenty-nine survivors landed here on the City of Chattanooga, was trapped in the engine room when the Grecian was rammed. Water poured in on him from above, blocking his only exit.

Tantalizing, fear provoking shouts of struggling men on deck reached him as he fought for ten minutes in the swirling waters to climb a ladder that led to safety and life.

He reached the deck, blinded and choked by water. He fell exhausted. Then he became delirious believing himself still fighting his battle for life.

For three hours fellow sailors held him until his delirium was stopped by hypodermic injections. Four seamen perished in the crash off Block Island. Three others were so painfully injured they were transferred to the marine hospital on Martha's Vineyard. Of the twenty-nine survivors still aboard the Chattanooga when she docked today, eight were suffering injuries.

Sharing hero honors in the rescue were Captain C. G. Borum of the Chattanooga, who with full steam ahead managed to keep the prow of his vessel stuffed firmly into the gaping hole it had torn in the Grecian's side amidship.

The Chattanooga's bow was enough of a stopper to keep the foundering craft afloat for fourteen minutes.

DRY AGENTS STRIKE TO DRY UP CHICAGO BEFORE CONVENTIONS

Raiders Arrest 40 In Speakeasies; Loop Spots Closed

CHICAGO, May 28.—Simultaneous raids by federal prohibition agents struck in twenty-eight places in Chicago and the suburbs early today as part of an asserted campaign to dry up the city for the national political conventions in June.

The agents, acting on evidence gathered during the past few days by undercover operatives, arrested more than forty persons.

The raids were the most extensive here in many months. Nearly every section of the city was entered by a large force of federal men operating under Prohibition Administrator Malachi L. Harney.

Two places in the loop were closed. In several places agents encountered resistance but forced their way to make arrests.

Prohibition forces have been active here since the recent appointment of Harney. Word has been spread among speakeasy proprietors that "the heat is on."

Liquor dealers reported they had received word to shut down during June when the Republican and Democratic conventions will meet here or face the threat of raids.

Since the start of the dry campaign half a dozen raids daily have been the program. Many liquor dispensaries that have run without interference for several years have been raided and several night clubs closed.

Prohibition directors have stoutly denied that any special campaign relative to the political conventions was in progress.

One of the places entered in the latest series of raids was the Wabash Grill, reputed rendezvous of Capone gangsters and known in the underworld as operated by Denny Cooney, notorious south side vice manager.

GIRL SLUGGED BY BURGLARS

NILES, May 28.—Breaking into a home on the Towline Road, near Mineral Ridge, today, three burglars slugged and choked a 13-year-old girl after locking her parents in their bedroom, fled to a nearby field and fired bullets at neighbors who answered the family's call for help.

The robbers obtained no money. They were the same three who broke into the Edward Taggart home on Salt Springs Road early Friday and fought a desultory duel with Taggart that lasted more than an hour.

The girl, Virginia May Parker, 13, was knocked down and gagged. The robbers escaped.

DRY LEADERS AWAIT ACTION OF PARTIES TO DECIDE POLICY

Debate Situation In Ohio At Meet In Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., May 28.—Prohibition forces in Ohio will not decide whether to put dry candidates into the field at the November election to oppose liberal Republican and Democratic nominees for state offices until after the national conventions are held next month.

This course was determined upon here Friday at a meeting of more than 100 dry leaders from over the state, assembled at the call of S. P. McNaught, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, to discuss the proposed independent dry candidate movement.

The drys were in conference for five hours, debating the political situation in Ohio resulting from the recent primary election and the nomination of liberals for the leading places on the two state tickets.

Although the meeting was not public, it was learned that there is considerable division among the drys as to the course the prohibition forces should follow.

Jacob Moidel, Warren attorney and president of the Young Men's Republican Club of Trumbull County, vigorously opposed the proposal for the dry ticket, declaring that such a course would be an affront to President Hoover. He urged that drys should support the President and the entire Republican ticket.

A committee was appointed to work with the headquarters committee of the Anti-Saloon League in reaching a final decision after the national conventions are held. The special committee included: William W. Dietrich, Cleveland; E. R. Root, Medina; Mrs. W. H. Alexander, Columbus; J. W. Johnson, Circleville; Dr. J. S. Cherrington, Logan; J. C. Fuhr, Williamsburg; and Rev. S. H. Bartlett, Lancaster.

The conferees went on record as opposing proposed state referendums on prohibition, urged Ohio's delegates to the national conventions to vote for dry planks in the party platforms and to nominate dry candidates, endorsed dry candidates on the state ticket, and urged all drys to vote only for candidates opposing any change in the Volstead Act.

TESTIMONY TO DENY WALKER'S STORY TO BE HEARD TUESDAY

Contradictory Versions Told To Committee By Witnesses

NEW YORK, May 28.—New testimony intended to prove that Mayor James J. Walker's memory is defective, or that he lied about financial transactions in which he had been named by other witnesses, will be offered Tuesday before New York's city-wide investigation committee.

Eight witnesses already have contradicted the mayor's story of his official conduct, of stock and bond deals, of his relations with a missing accountant, Russell T. Sherwood, of Sherwood's accounts showing deposits of nearly a million dollars.

One of these witnesses testified Friday after the mayor had concluded his testimony. Testimony of seven others who preceded Walker, had been denied, or contradicted in part by the mayor himself.

And as the Hofstadter investigating committee, conducting the hearings, adjourned until Tuesday, the mayor denied at city hall that he intended to resign, or that he intended to ask Park Commissioner Walter R. Herrick to resign.

Herrick told the committee Friday that he bought 350 shares of Interstate Trust Company stock which he thought he was buying for the mayor. The money, he said, came from city hall from either the mayor or Edward Stanton, his former secretary. Herrick didn't remember which and he didn't recall whose name was signed to checks involved.

Walker had testified that "I never owned any, I never saw any, I never paid for any and I never

MOVE TO SUBSTITUTE SALES TAX FOR LUXURY TAXES GAINS FAVOR

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Attacking the New York Stock Exchange as a "parasite which has swallowed the legitimate business of the country," Senator Dill, Dem., Washington, today demanded that the senate disregard a committee recommendation and restore to the 1932 tax bill the 3 1/2 per cent minimum stock transfer tax approved by the house.

Fewer than a dozen votes are lacking in the senate to substitute the general manufacturer's sales tax for the so-called luxury and nuisance levies in the $1,000,000, 000 bill. There may be a vote on this sales tax today.

It is barely possible for the senate to complete the tax bill today.

If it does not, the schedule calls for a regular session Monday, which is Decoration Day and usually a legislative holiday.

The senate concluded a nine-hour session yesterday with an estimated $539,000,000 of revenue safely voted into the bill. The final action was to defeat an amendment by Senator Howell, Rep., Neb., to exempt checks for $5 or less from the two-cent levy on bank checks. Banks will collect the tax.

Western senators massed their strength in favor of the Howell amendment, which was designed especially to relieve checks for farm produce from the levy. The vote was 39 to 39. Under senate rules in this case a tie vote was rejection and Vice President Cullen was not called upon to cast a deciding vote.

In its nine-hour day the senate voted a 10 per cent sales tax on furs, increased postal rates and the bank check tax. These items are estimated to yield $15,000,000, $160,000,000 and $95,000,000, respectively.

Defeat of the bank check amendment was considered by many persons to enhance the possibility of the senate eventually turning to the general 1 1/2 per cent manufacturers' sales tax sponsored by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts. Senators from agricultural regions in general complained the tax would confiscate a considerable proportion of the sums to farmers from sale of cream, milk, butter, eggs and other produce.

The opposition to taxation of small checks is so bitter that it may force a few more senators to the already considerable group which is ready to vote for the manufacturers' sales tax despite the fact that the house rejected that form of taxation in the spectacular tax rebellion led by Rep. LaGuardia, Republican, New York.

Senator Majority Leader Watson claimed forty-six votes for the general sales tax. With every senator paired or voting, the amendment would require forty-nine votes for adoption.

He also was charged with neglect of duty in failing to close the bank upon finding certain conditions existing.

It was on the last named charge that the verdict today was returned.

The trial was started on April 4, with an imposing array of character witnesses for the defendant, led by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and Alfred E. Smith.

The jury was out almost sixteen hours before reaching a verdict.

EDWARD SWIFT PLUNGES FROM HIGH WINDOW

Chairman Of Swift & Co. Had Planned Trip To Europe

CHICAGO, May 28.—Edward F. Swift, chairman of the board of Swift and Co., one of the largest packing firms in the world, died in a fall at his home today.

The nature of the death, which occurred about 8 a. m., was not immediately determined.

A statement confirming the death of one of the most prominent of midwest industrialists was issued by his brother Charles Henry Swift. Edward F. Swift succeeded Louis F. Swift as chairman of the board of Swift and Co., last January.

"Edward F. Swift has been in poor health for several weeks," his brother said. "On the advice of his physician he had arranged to leave Tuesday for a vacation in Europe. His affairs are in excellent condition."

Swift, who was 64-years-old, fell to his death from the sixth floor window of his fashionable North State Parkway apartment, overlooking Lincoln Park.

The fall was witnessed by the packer's chauffeur, Harry Dice, who was waiting in a limousine parked in front of the building to take his employer to his office.

Lieutenant Timothy Rohan who made an investigation of the death said that Swift rose at 6:30 a. m., his usual hour and had breakfast in a bathrobe and pajamas. The maid said she noticed nothing unusual about his actions.

The window from which he fell was guarded by an eight inch grating. The maid did not know whether the window was open when she left the room.

Swift was clothed only in pajamas when his body was recovered.

His wife, Mrs. Hortense Swift, was dressing in a nearby room at the time of the fall. She was reported in complete collapse at news of her husband's death.

Police said examination of the body showed bruises on one leg which they believed indicated the packing magnate had fallen over the grating which guarded the window.

The body fell onto a stone canopy in full view of the chauffeur who was first to report the death.

Swift was president of the Company Swift International and of the Swift Refrigerator Transportation Co. He was vice president of Libby, McNeill and Libby and of the Fort Worth Stock Yards Co. He was director of Swift and Co., Limited, of London, of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings Bank of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co., the Continental Chicago Corporation and the Chicago Corporation.

His widow is the former Hortense Newcomer of Shannon, Ill., and there are three children—Mrs. Huntington B. Henry, Theodore P. Swift and Edward F. Swift, Jr.

MRS. JAMES D. ADAIR NEW PRESIDENT OF LITTLE THEATER; ANNUAL DINNER HELD

Mrs. James D. Adair, N. King St., will head the Xenia Little Theater during 1932-33 following her election to the office of president at the annual dinner meeting at Christ Episcopal Church Parish House Friday evening.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Karl Babb, first vice president; James Bryson, second vice president; H. E. Kiernan, third vice president; Miss Josephine Wolf, secretary and I. M. Hyman, treasurer. Mrs. Adair succeeds Mrs. Florence Satter Wilson as president and other officers who served during the past year were Charles Bone, first vice president; James Bryson, second vice president; Findley M. Torrence, third vice president; Mrs. John E. Barlow, secretary and Arthur V. Miller, treasurer.

Mrs. Adair has taken an active interest in the Little Theater here and besides serving on various committees has taken part in one of the productions.

Seventy-seven members of the organization attended the dinner which was served by women of Christ Episcopal Church at 6:30 o'clock. The business meeting followed the dinner and Mr. Bone presided in the absence of Mrs. Wilson.

Later a delightful one act comedy, "The Fourth Mrs. Phillips" was presented by a group of members under the capable direction of Miss Joan B. Elwell. The play centered around a "Mr. Phillips", an actor, who, despite his sixty years, still made a youthful appearance. He was about to be married for the fourth time but when his

DECISION OF COURT FAVORS FATHER IN MORTGAGE DISPUTE

In the absence of a definite agreement for repayment, a $1,200 mortgage on the family homestead at Bellbrook, erected by Frank Weaver, 80, to his son, John, in 1920, six years after the residence had undergone extensive remodeling, was partly nullified by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy, whose verbal decision was handed down Friday afternoon after a two-day hearing of the father's suit to vacate the mortgage.

Judge Gowdy ruled that the mortgage was valid only to the extent of $157 and interest, but that the father is not liable for other items making up the $1,200 claim.

The father had charged that the son was threatening to foreclose and eject him from the premises, and that he had executed the mortgage against his better judgment, solely to preserve harmony between the son and his wife. Weaver's children had joined together in 1914 to remodel the family home, performing the labor with the son, John, bearing most of the expense.

fiancée appeared on the scene and later the three other "Mrs. Phillips" made their appearances, his plans were changed.

Charles A. Bone played the part of "Mr. Phillips" while Miss Juanita Rankin played opposite him as "Miss Dolly Harrison", who was to become the "fourth Mrs. Phillips". Miss Rankin was well chosen for the part and received considerable comment on her clever acting. This was her first appearance in a Little Theater production. Mrs. S. O. Hale as "the first Mrs. Phillips", Miss Josephine Armstrong as "the second Mrs. Phillips" and Miss Helen Ford as "the third Mrs. Phillips" were all well chosen for their parts as were Frederick E. Anderson as "Marston", the valet and George Prugh as "Mr. Arthur", a newspaper reporter.

The play contained many witty lines and furnished an entertaining climax to an enjoyable evening for members of the Little Theater.

FRAMED by Phil

Xenia auto race enthusiasts are expected to be represented by Ray McCoy and others at the annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on Memorial Day.

The field is limited to forty drivers and thirty had already qualified by Friday, including Louis Schneider, the former Indianapolis policeman, who captured the 1931 race, and is eligible to make another bid for international racing fame.

Local auto race fans may also do well to consider patronizing the annual Memorial Day races at Funk's motor speedway in Winchester, Ind., which has grown to enormous proportions in public interest in the last ten years.

This is a half-mile dirt track, recognized as the fastest in the world, is steeply banked and this year is under A. A. supervision.

From a little flat track in a corn field banked by a few benches accommodated at the most, 800 people, to a modern racing plant at which the annual Memorial Day crowds have been averaging better than 20,000 fans, is the record of the Winchester speedway.

For real thrills there are few sports able to hold a candle with auto racing, they tell us, and the Memorial Day races at Winchester have become almost as much of a fixture with Ohio and Indiana racing fans as the 500-mile event at Indianapolis. The Winchester races will include half-mile, five mile and twenty mile events.

Twenty-five boys, members of the discharge class this year at the O. S. and S. O. Home, who visited Cincinnati Thursday on a shopping tour, also attended the baseball game at Redland Field between the Reds and the Cubs, through the courtesy of the American Legion. The cadets came back convinced that Red Lucas deserved to have beaten the Cubs, instead of losing 3 to 2. Lieut. Perry D. Swindler and Jay Burnett accompanied the boys on the trip.

There are plenty of all-round athletes, but you seldom hear of one who earns letters in five different sports in one year. Glendon Lakes, who graduates from high school at the O. S. and S. O. Home this year, is a five-letter athlete. He played guard on the football team, guard on the cadet basketball quintet, was a member of the swimming team, specialized in pole vaulting on the track team and was a member of the Junior Rifle Club at the Home, having achieved the distinction of being a distinguished rifleman.

Miss Victory And Mr. Spring Valley Meet

OLD ENEMIES SMOKE PEACE PIPE THANKS TO COATE'S OUTFIT

Villagers Smitten By Charms; Win First Game 9 to 8

Miss Victory and the Spring Valley softball team, who have not been on speaking terms since the current National League season opened, formed a beautiful, though perhaps not a lasting friendship at Cox Field Friday night.

Word had got about during the last five weeks that the two did not enjoy even a casual acquaintanceship, in fact, were total strangers to one another, although the Valley team had made repeated overtures for the formality of an introduction.

Just when it appeared probable their paths would never cross and the two would never meet on an equal social footing, along came Coate's Barbers and brought the two together.

Using the Barbers as a stepping stone in their climb up the social ladder, the Valley softballers emerged from the doldrums and captured their first triumph of the season. They exhibited greater staying qualities and outlasted the Coate's team to win, 9 to 8.

The Valley thus snapped out of its losing ways, after dropping four straight league games, though it still remains in last place, a fact which the Barbers, who have been playing the various shots. However, enough false impressions have already been created.

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED 29 EAST HIGH GRADUATES HERE FRIDAY

Diplomas were awarded twenty-nine seniors of East High School by Louis Hammerle, superintendent of schools, at the fifty-third annual commencement of East High School at the Xenia Opera House Friday evening.

Bishop J. A. Gregg, A. M., D. D., bishop of the fifth Episcopal district of the A. M. E. Church with headquarters at Kansas City, and former president of Wilberforce University, delivered the commencement address on "The Law of Design". The salutatory address, "Is It Right?" was given by Ada Corinne Hamilton and the valedictory oration, "Change" was given by Miss Margaret Murray Harden.

The exercises opened with the professional of the class of 1932 followed by a song by the school, "Lift Every Voice and Sing". Rev. A. H. Turner, pastor of the First A. M. E. Church, pronounced the invocation and the students then sang two Negro spirituals. Other music on the program included a piano solo by Ella Louise Jenkins and a vocal solo, "Ship O'Dreams", by Robert Kellogg Shoecraft.

The annual scholarship award of $25 given by the Married Ladies Club was presented to Miss Margaret Harden and six other students were presented public speaking prizes by the club. The presentation of the honor roll, an annual custom of the school, was made by Robert Shoecraft, president of the class of 1932 to Grover Harden, president of the class of 1933. The program closed with several musical numbers by the school and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. F. M. Liggins, pastor of the Third Baptist Church.

Arthur Taylor, principal of East High School, introduced Bishop Gregg, and Miss Helen Wheeler Ferguson was in charge of the musical numbers. R. A. Braxton was in charge of the orations.

Rose Asks High Wage Then Returns To Stage

Hollywood is puzzled over the eccentric behaviour of Rose Hobart, who turned down a good film offer and has gone back to Broadway, apparently determined to desert the cinema for good.

Miss Hobart, only mildly successful in her screen career to date, was approached by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer while she was playing a stage engagement in Hollywood opposite Ralph Forbes in "Let Us Divorce". She took a successful test for "Skyscraper Souls" and was offered a good salary and an excellent chance to prove herself.

Her reply was to name what executives considered an excessive salary figure. When pressed for an explanation, she calmly told them that she didn't like film work and that if they wanted her they would have to pay high. Naturally they didn't, so she packed up and left for Broadway.

But the part she missed has been eagerly sought by a half-dozen other actresses. Verne Teasdale, star of the recent New York production, "Experience Unnecessary", is on her way to Hollywood to go to work in the picture which Edgar Selwyn will direct.

Warren William has been loaned to Metro for "Sky-Scraper Souls" but is under orders to report back to the home studio June 3 to play the masculine lead in "Three On a Match", the Kubec Glasmon-John Bright story which Mervyn Roy will direct. Since his hit in "The Mouthpiece", William's stock has taken a strong rise in Hollywood.

A Hungarian actress with a Park Ave. accent and southern habits has joined the Hollywood ranks of hopefuls who may become prominent. Her name is Zita Johann and she's well-known on Broadway, where she starred in "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" and other plays. Miss Johann was born in Hungary and the fact that she came to the United States when she was seven did not rob her of the exotic qualities of Slavic beauty. She is dark-haired, brown-eyed and about five-feet-three.

RELEASE PRISONER HELD MENTALLY ILL

Revealed as defective mentally, Trevor Evans, 31, Milwaukee, Wis., indicted by the May grand jury for auto theft, has been ordered released from jail by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy into the custody of his brother, E. M. Evans, also a resident of Milwaukee, who came to this city recently.

Circumstances of the case do not warrant further prosecution of Evans at this time, Judge Gowdy decided.

Evans was charged with the theft of a taxicab, valued at $500, from Roy Hook, E. R. No. 2, Xenia last April 22. He was arrested in Belmont County two days later and returned to this city, after which police learned that he had also been active as a fraudulent check worker.
